U. S. Ambassador Davis Ordered to Geneva Today to Attend Arms Meet

PLAN FOR CONCLAVE

President's Plan Well Received in South America and Also in Europe

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—Cheered by friendly messages from 12 foreign rulers, President Roosevelt today pushed forward his drive for world peace, disarmament and prosperity.

Norman H. Davis, America's "Ambassador of Peace" in Europe, was ordered to Geneva to sponsor the president's disarmament and security plan before the world disarmament conference meeting Friday.

Chancellor Hitler's speech, well received here, appeared to end the danger of a Franco-German crisis and to open the way for a European disarmament treaty.

King George of Great Britain, President Le Brun of France and heads of 10 other nations promised fullest consideration by their governments of Mr. Roosevelt's bid for peace.

King George cabled the president: "I thank you for your important message which I have communicated to my government in order that it may receive their fullest consideration."

Said Lebrun: "I thank you for your communication. I hasten to render homage to the lofty sentiments which have dictated it in your fervent love of peace and your sincere desire for the economic recovery of the peoples."

Messages in a similar tone were received from the chief executives of Austria, Sweden, Denmark, Latvia, Norway, The Netherlands, Cuba, Mexico, Panama and Switzerland.

U. S. SENATORS TAKE HAND IN JUDGE'S TRIAL

Members of Senate Question Witnesses in Impeachment Case

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—The house managers today rested their case of impeachment against Federal Judge Harold Louderback of San Francisco.

Senator Black, Dem., Ala., brought from the witness, Sydney M. Ehrman, the response that he had "never heard Leake praised."

Black sent a question to the chair asking Ehrman if he knew Leake. The witness answered he had heard him "discussed a good deal." The senator then asked whether he was favorably or unfavorably.

EMPLOYMENT GAINS DURING LAST MONTH

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Employment in April gained 1.6 per cent over March, but Secretary of Labor Perkins warned that the figure should not be construed as indicating basic improvement.

When she announced the increase Miss Perkins asked newspapermen to "tell your headline writers not to say that employment is getting better."

The comparison with March should not be taken at its face value, she said, because employment in that month was abnormally depressed by the banking holiday.

Employment was lower in April than in February and showed a 10 per cent decrease as compared with April, 1932. Payrolls were down 21.9 per cent for the year.

State Militia Called Out for Final Blow Against Bloody Milk Strike

SHAWANO, Wis., May 18.—(UP)—Wisconsin marshalled its armed forces today for a final blow against the milk strike that has spilled blood over the spring-green fields of the rich dairy land.

Machine gunners swept the highways of small concentrations of pickets. Virtual martial law was in force.

Fifteen hundred men patrolled this county alone with orders that milk shipments of farmers antagonistic to the strike must go through.

No quarter for the strikers was the order issued by Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman as disruption of milk shipments threatened Wisconsin's market in the Chicago area.

Three new national guard units were ordered into the field today. They were ordered to report in full military equipment, including side arms, bayonets and gas masks.

Blitzer feeling that has divided farmer against farmer on adjoining land grew deeper. An anonymous threat to destroy the publishing plant of the Beloit Daily News was received by the newspaper.

"Change your attitude on the milk strike or you will be looking for a different plant. If you can't help an oppressed people, you should not stay in business. We are watching your paper, so beware," said the letter, signed "Advance Committee."

Two hundred prisoners, jammed in the county highway machine shops, were to be charged today with unlawful assembly. Machine guns were mounted on the building to repulse any attempts by mobs to liberate the group. The 200 comprised pickets arrested in forays with deputies in which a score of men were beaten and several gassed.

A reserve force of 750 national guardsmen was held ready for service if new danger spots developed. A battalion of 400 militiamen was ordered to duty in Outagamie county where a large demonstration was feared.

Thirty-four national guard units were in the field. Thirteen were being held in reserve and 33 companies have not yet been called upon.

GUN BATTLE OPENS IN HAVANA STREETS

HAVANA, Cuba, May 18.—(UP)—A spectacular gun battle between four youths in a closed automobile and a squad of secret police in another car started the center of Havana today, endangering the lives of passersby.

Available reports said a bomb was thrown at the police car from the other in the Prado in front of the Grace line offices. Pursuit then started through the Prado, into Central park, past the capital building and into Reina street.

The youths outdistanced police and abandoned their car. Police said the automobile contained a machine gun and several rifles. None of the police was injured. The police car bore 19 bullet holes.

DISABLED VETERANS OF STATE IN MEET

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 18.—(INS)—Legislation affecting disabled veterans was the principal topic today as the California department of the Disabled Veterans of the World War prepared to open their three-day convention to be in session three days.

Resolutions protesting certain phases of the government's policy regarding bonuses and pensions were expected to be introduced. Leaders estimated that one-third of the nation's disabled veterans reside in California.

Today Is Last On Which To Register

With today the last day in which voters wishing to cast their ballots in the special June 27 election may register, County Clerk J. M. Backs announced this morning that he will keep his office open until 9 o'clock tonight to accommodate voters who have not yet registered.

Under California's permanent registration system, voters who exercised their franchise at either the last August primary or the general election in November automatically are eligible to vote at the special election.

Failure to vote at one of the fall elections or change of address 40 days prior to the special election date requires reregistration. Backs pointed out.

MUSCLE SHOALS BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—President Roosevelt signed the Tennessee Valley-Muscle Shoals bill today, embarking the government on a vast development program designed to stimulate industry and activity the economic resources of the great river area.

Enactment of the measure brought to fruition the 12 year long fight of Senator Norris, Rep., Neb., to put the Muscle Shoals plant into complete operation.

Shortly before the president signed the bill it was learned that the department of justice has been investigating allegations that power companies which bought power from the Muscle Shoals plant had misused their privileges and caused damage to various equipment.

The bill went to the White House shortly after noon after Speaker of the House Rainey and Vice President Garner had signed the engraved copy of the bill, which received final congressional approval yesterday when the house adopted the conference report.

Norris won his fight for passage of a development program which complied with his own ideas. The completed measure is the same in its provisions as the bill he introduced in the senate.

The new act is expected to mean employment to thousands of men on afforestation, flood control, elimination of marginal land, and dam construction throughout the valley.

It authorizes creation of a board to have full control over the gigantic development, with an initial fund of $50,000,000 for start of the various projects, which include government operation of Muscle Shoals, with its power facilities, and construction of two new dams, Cove Creek and "Dam No. 2."

BAN ON RELIGIOUS ORDERS IS PASSED

MADRID, May 18.—(UP)—Repression of religious orders in Spain was made almost complete when the cortes, 278 to 59, passed on final reading the law of religious congregations.

Priests, monks, nuns and others belonging to religious orders are forbidden by the bill to practice teaching. Religious orders must cease giving secondary (higher) instruction by October and primary instruction by January.

With their property already nationalized and their right to engage in industry, commerce or other gainful activity prohibited, the orders are thus left without occupation or means of support.

The latest law was passed under a "gag" rule limiting debate.

Threat Made On Punitive Expedition

Father Receives Word That Son and Partner Being Escorted to Border

LPINE, Tex., May 18.—(UP)—The threat of punitive invasion of Mexico and appeals to Washington for regular army troops to rescue two Americans from Mexican bandits, were followed promptly today by advice that the pair had been released.

Indignant cattlemen banded together under the leadership of C. L. Hannold, prominent Big Bend rancher, and gave the outlaws until sundown to release Art Hannold, son of the rancher, and John Rollins, an employee of one of his ranches.

Hannold declared he would invade Mexico with his armed company of cowboys and ranchers if his son and Rollins were not freed. Meantime, he appealed directly to Secretary of War George Dern for troops to track down the outlaws. Other troop appeals went to congressmen.

Tension eased as William Blocker, American consul at Juarez, Mex., was notified by telegraph the Americans were being escorted to the border by immigration officers of Villa Acuna, Mex.

They were turned over to the officers by the mayor of Ocampo, to whom they were delivered by Candelario Balza, notorious Mexican outlaw, who accused them of robbing the bank of Sierra Mojada, a mining town near the Coahuila-Chihuahua boundary.

The mayor declined to regard the charges as valid, and the pair were expected to be returned to their native soil tonight.

Hannold said his son and Rollins, armed with saddle carbines and revolvers, left his ranch May 9, trailing a band of stolen horses. They headed towards Mexico and were last seen 20 miles inland riding the trail of the stolen horses.

A Mexican official advised Hannold last night his son and Rollins were captured by Balza, who is leader of a band of 29 outlaws. He told the American rancher that the two men may be held for ransom.

Balza, known as a terrorist along the border for the last eight years, is a fugitive from Texas. Indictments accusing him of murdering two Mexican ranchers are pending in courts in this country.

Meanwhile, excitement over the kidnapping and release crystallized in a plea of ranchers for better protection from the raiding Mexicans.

Two rangers were dispatched to this area by Capt. Jeff Vaughan, Texas ranger captain stationed at Marfa. Friends of Hannold wired Congressman R. Ewing Thomson of El Paso asking for military aid. They pointed out since the disbanding of the first regiment at Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa, three months ago, outlaws have frequently invaded Texas and that they are becoming bolder.

380,000 MEN WILL GET HIGHWAY WORK

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—A $400,000,000 appropriation for highway construction included in the huge public works bill now before congress will provide work for 380,000 men, experts who assisted in drafting the measure said today.

The bill provides two highway building programs. One is similar to the federal aid system under which thousands of miles of important highways have been built, but it would not require the various states to match federal funds. The second calls for construction or improvement of a system of secondary or "feeder" highways.

The allotment of funds would be made on a basis of population and on the apportionment of road building money used in the present federal highway act.

DIRECTOR OF BUDGET HAS FOUR PLANS

Alternative Tax Programs Submitted to Ways and Means Committee Today

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—Budget Director Douglas, on behalf of the administration, today presented to the house ways and means committee four alternative tax programs, including a general manufacturers' sales tax, to finance the huge public works recovery bill.

A general sales tax of 1.1-8 per cent, Douglas said, would raise $214,000,000; while a 1.1-5 levy would give new revenue of $228,000,000.

Douglas' testimony before the committee coincides with the presentation of House Majority Leader Byrns, at the White House, that the bill would be reported out of committee Monday and passed by the house by Wednesday of next week.

The budget director told the committee it was essential that taxes providing a minimum of $220,000,000 be included in the administration's business recovery bill.

Alternative Plans
Alternative tax programs included one increasing the normal income tax rates from four to six per cent and from eight to ten per cent; withdrawing exemption of dividend income on which taxes are paid at source, and imposition of three new excises.

These included a 10 cent a pound tax on tea to raise $8,000,000.

PAIR INDICTED ON KIDNAPING CHARGES

BARNSTABLE, Mass., May 18.—(UP)—A grand jury today indicted Kenneth and Cyril Buck, brothers, in connection with the kidnaping of 10-year-old Peggy McMath, who was ransomed for $60,000.

Both Kenneth, the alleged "master mind" of the kidnap plot, and Cyril, who had been pictured as an unwilling accomplice, were charged with kidnaping and extortion.

Cyril, who owns a garage in Barnstable, was arraigned immediately before Superior Judge Edward F. Hanly. He pleaded not guilty to both charges, and his bail of $100,000 was continued.

Kenneth, a jobless chauffeur, was then brought before Judge Hanly, but because his lawyer had not yet arrived, a temporary plea of not guilty was ordered by the court and the case was held in abeyance.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 18.—(To the Editor of The Register): Say, this man Roosevelt not only makes Congress roll over and play dead, but by golly he made this tough guy Hitler promise to bring sticks out of the water. Is there no end to this man's cleverness? Course there is one thing about Europe, you can never believe 'em the first time, they'll agree to anything till it comes time to sign up. This might be just the ideal time to stop a war, for nobody has anything to fight one with. Like disarmament, it's not done for humanitarian reasons, it's only done for economic reasons. The whole thing seems too good to be true, but the whole world is changing, so maybe they are going to turn human.

ORANGE COUNTY TO BENEFIT BY GAS TAX BILL

Sen. Nels Edwards Issues Statement on Return from Sacramento

DECLARING that taxpayers of Orange county have benefited more through the disposal made of the gasoline taxes through the inclusion of county and city roads in the state highway system than they would have benefited under any other plan, Sen. Nels Edwards, who just returned from the legislative session at Sacramento, issued a statement today.

Senator Edwards said the final bill which was passed included about 200 miles of roads in Orange county which will be taken over by the state highway system. Of this amount, he estimated, from 40 to 50 miles are inside city limits. Included in the bill is a program to build and extend South Main street in Santa Ana to Corona Del Mar, a project long discussed in this section, Senator Edwards said.

In the city limits of Santa Ana, Main street clear through the city, and First street through the city are to be taken over for maintenance and future rebuilding by the state, he said. Grand street from city limit to city limit is also included, as well as Santa Ana boulevard from the city limits to Main street.

Bill's Provisions
The bill provides for either First street or Seventeenth street from Main street west to the city limits to be taken over by the state. Senator Edwards said he saw no reason why the city could not make the choice. The road from the Orange county hospital to Main street has been included also, he said.

Commenting on resolutions adopted by various organizations in the county regarding the disposition of the gasoline tax monies, Senator Edwards made the following statement:

"I think I can readily show," said Senator Edwards, "that by giving the cities one-fourth of a cent of the gas tax and including 200 miles of road in the state highway system, the taxpayers will be given more immediate and more permanent relief than by bolder."

FLOODED RIVERS TO REACH CREST TODAY

CHICAGO, May 18.—(UP)—Flooded rivers in Illinois and Indiana, some of them at the highest stages in 35 years, were expected to reach their crests today.

Southward from Peoria, Ill., the Illinois river was a raging torrent at the worst flood stage since 1844. Sacks of sand and cement were massed against a levee as the river threatened to inundate East Peoria. Highways and railroads were covered with several feet of water.

In Central and Southern Illinois, thousands of acres were flooded. At Beardstown and Peru families fled their homes. Additional rain yesterday marooned new areas. Several families were rescued by boats.

Scores of families were homeless at Pekin and at Liverpool.

SIX INJURED IN ACCIDENTS LAST 24 HOURS

Six persons were injured, none of them seriously, in three automobile accidents in Santa Ana during the past 24 hours.

Shortly after midnight last night a car driven by Adam Lehr, 23, Anaheim, and Tate H. Hales, Newport Beach, collided head-on at the corner of Central avenue and South Main streets. Both cars were badly wrecked.

Lehr was slightly cut on the left ear and was taken to his home, Jack Cavanaugh, Newport, a passenger in Hales' car, was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. He was not badly injured, however, having suffered body bruises. Irene Coddie, 16, Newport, and John Coffey, of Newport, were treated at the Orange county hospital for cuts and bruises.

Carl Boltz, 40, 1950 East Walnut street, Orange, was slightly injured and his wife and baby badly shaken up when a car he was driving collided with one driven by Roy Eisenhauer, 28, 1312 West Fifth street, Santa Ana, at the corner of First and Broadway streets yesterday afternoon.

Another accident occurred at the corner of second and Main streets when a motorcycle ridden by Lewis Allen, 17, Anaheim, and a car driven by E. L. Benson, 26, 116 North Sycamore street, Santa Ana, collided. Allen was injured, but not seriously, and was able to go home by himself.

Jobless Group Issues Warning On Fake Solicitor

Warning against the actions of a man said to be fraudulently claiming to represent the Santa Ana Unemployed association, William Ruddiman, manager of the association, today appealed to police to assist in locating the man.

Ruddiman reported to police that a man wearing "Unemployed Association" on a hatband on his hat had applied to Mrs. Leo Arnold of 211 West Washington street, for aid, saying he represented the Unemployed association.

Police today asked anyone approached by the man to notify the police station.

Preliminary examination of Angelina Tellez, 34, cafe and pool room operator at the Corona camp, and her employee, Consuela Cortez, 24, both of whom are charged with offering and giving a $25 bribe to Constable William D. Tremaine of Brea township, was continued to May 22 at 9 a. m. when the case came before Judge Kenneth E. Morrison in the Santa Ana justice court this morning.

The women are charged with having been the go-betweens in the alleged bribing of Constable Tremaine in securing leniency for Jos Alvarez, who is serving time on an assault charge and who, at the time of his arrest, had a gun in his possession. Because he is an alien the possession of a firearm constitutes a felony charge.

A decision in the case of Tremaine, charged with accepting a bribe, will be given by Judge Morrison Saturday, the day to which the preliminary examination was continued. Tremaine will either be cleared of the bribery charge or held to answer to the superior court.

NOMINATION FOR CONVENTION FILED

Nomination petition of J. F. Burke, anti-repeal candidate for delegate to the state convention on whether California will uphold or reject the Eighteenth amendment, was filed yesterday with County Clerk J. M. Backs. Burke is candidate to represent the nineteenth congressional district and his petition is being filed on his behalf in San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

Dry forces of the district united on the candidacy of Burke while wet forces split with petitions being circulated for Dr. Harold Miller of Chino and Mrs. Imogene G. Hook of Victorville. Mrs. Hook's petition was filed in Orange county Tuesday along with a petition nominating Hamilton H. Cotton, San Clemente, delegate at large for the repealists.

Today was the last day for filing petitions.

HEALTH EXAMS FOR CHILDREN FRIDAY

Examination of pre-school children in Santa Ana at the county health department is scheduled to start tomorrow between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. Parent-Teachers associations of the county and the health department urge parents of children of pre-school age to secure physical examination of their children.

Dr. Kenneth Sutherland, county health officer, said that pre-school examinations may be secured on Fridays by calling the health department and making an appointment.

CHANGE VOTE REQUIREMENT TO BENEFIT BY ON WATER BILL GAS TAX BILL

According to Assemblyman James R. Utt the Orange County Water bill, as adopted in the state legislature will not repeal the county Flood Control act, now in effect.

As first presented, Utt said, Section 79 of the new bill would have repealed the act. This section later was stricken from the proposal and the measure was passed.

Introduced by Assemblyman Ted Craig of the Seventy-first district an amendment to the County Flood Control act was adopted changing the requirements for voting bond issues under the act from a majority of the vote cast to a two-thirds majority.

ASK REMOVAL SPEED COPS AT SAN CLEMENTE

A move to make San Clemente a city without "speed cops" was launched at a meeting of the San Clemente Business Men's association last night, when a resolution was adopted urging the city council to discharge the police force with the exception of a night watchman, allowing state highway patrol officers to handle traffic.

Billboards bidding visitors welcome and stating, "We have no speed cop. Please drive carefully," would be placed at entrances to the city under the plan of the business men.

Speakers asserted that there had been too many arrests, placing the city "in bad with the motoring public."

Ole Hanson, founder of the city, was one of the speakers, declaring, "Let us at least try the plan. Other cities have not our bad name. Let us give the travelers a break and see how it works."

The petition asking the city council to discharge Chief of Police Harry Comber on grounds he did not pay his bills and made needless traffic arrests, will be submitted to the city council Friday night, it was decided. It was declared that if the city board fails to oust Comber, that the association will hold another meeting to discuss recall proceedings.

TAXI OPERATOR IN STATEMENT ON ATTORNEY

John H. Wilson, operator of the Home Taxi Cab company, in a statement issued today, declared that Otto Jacobs is not representing his firm, as reported recently, but is representing Jack Kinzer who was formerly connected with the Home Taxi company.

Kinzer is not connected with the Home Taxi firm now, but is seeking to get a permit to operate taxis through another person, A. E. Lewis, his father-in-law, Wilson said.

It is believed that if taxi companies operating in the city agree on a proposed fare zoning plan that the city council would let down the bars and issue licenses to several cab companies. Only one company, the Courtesy Cab company, now holds a city license.

giving the cities a half-cent and sacrificing the advantages of transferring county roads to the state system.

"By figures that have been published, it appears that the cities of Orange county would have received about $106,000 annually from the half-cent allocation. The taxpayers of the county would have continued to bear the cost of maintenance of 200 miles of county highway.

Cities Get $53,000

"Under the plan adopted, the cities will receive $53,000 from the gas tax and the state will assume maintenance cost of the 200 miles of highway, which is conservatively estimated at $100,000 per year. This figure is based upon the fact that the cost of maintenance of state roads during the past four years has averaged $1000 per mile, which includes overhead, depreciation of equipment and improvement. It is conservative to place the amount which the state will spend on Orange county roads at $5000 per mile. Construction and reconstruction costs, amounting to millions of dollars in future years, are also assumed by the state.

"If it is kept in mind that nearly all of this highway, taken over by the state, is within the city limits, it will be seen that the cities are sharing in the benefits of the highway program, particularly in that future reconstruction of their main streets will be paid for by the state.

"I wish to make it plain that the program adopted, by which the cities get a quarter-cent instead of a half-cent, was the plan favored by the California League of Municipalities, of which Earl Ruddy, of Santa Ana, is secretary, and that it was also favored by the supervisors association of the state. It is certain that these organizations believe the plan is in the interest of the taxpayers.

Sound Program

"The program was adopted by both houses of the legislature in the belief that it was sound. The vote in the senate was nearly unanimous. The report that an attempt was made to substitute a half-cent allocation in the conference committee was without foundation. The only thing considered by the conference committee, of which I was a member, was whether the supervisors or the highway commission should supervise the money given to the cities. That duty was placed on the highway commission. Only Los Angeles and San Francisco supervisors, so far as I know, desired to have direction of the city funds.

"I think, therefore, that a full understanding of the fact will convince anyone that Orange county has been fortunate in being relieved of 200 miles of county highway and city streets and that the general taxpayer will be further ahead than he would have been had the cities been given a half-cent and the county continued to maintain its own roads. I cannot help but think that those people who are criticizing the transfer of county roads to the state highway system do not realize the amount of benefit local taxpayers will receive from the transfer. The passage of the bill gives the cities one-fourth of the gas tax, taken from the state's share, the county retaining the one cent it already has, and the cities and county getting rid of a maintenance of 200 miles of highway. I do not see how we could ask for much more.

"Bear in mind that heretofore the cities had received nothing from the state's share of the gas tax and the county and cities have paid the cost of maintenance of this 200 miles of roads. This legislation is new and represents sheer gain to us."

REPORT BURGLARIES TO AUTHORITIES

Three burglaries were reported to sheriff's officers today. A. E. Jones, of the Block ranch Costa Mesa, reported the theft of car parts and eight gallons of gasoline from the garage on the ranch, which was broken into. Sheriff's officers were investigating today the theft of an unknown quantity of gasoline from a pump at the Katella school which was broken into last night.

The theft of a motor and pump from the O. S. Graham ranch, Ocean avenue and Cannery road, two miles west of Garden Grove, was reported to the sheriff by A. J. Lee, a neighbor.

Gene Heis, city employee, reported the theft of a box of firecrackers from a garage at 2525 North Main street to police today.

VILLA PARK BOY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Don Sutherland, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sutherland, of Villa Park, suffered head and possible internal injuries and severe bruises last yesterday afternoon, when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile.

No reports of the accident have been made to police officers, who are without information as to the driver of the car. The accident happened at Villa Park.

The Sutherland boy is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital and was said to be conscious today.

favorably known in San Francisco.

"If I had to answer that question categorically," Ehrman said, "I would answer 'I have never heard him praised.'"

"Is Mr. Leake's general reputation for honesty and integrity good or bad?" Black asked.

"I don't know," the witness answered.

Ehrman was also questioned about the legal ability of John W. Short, attorney for the receiver in the receivership of the Russell-Galvin brokerage house, where allegedly excessive fees were said to have been paid.

The questions were put by Senator McKellar, Dem., Tenn. Ehrman answered that he had a general familiarity with the reputations of members of the bar but was more acquainted with the older members than with the younger. Short, he said, fell into this latter category as he was unfamiliar with his reputation and ability. He added that he believed he would have heard of him if he had been of outstanding ability.

Ehrman was counsel for the San Francisco stock exchange and was called to testify as to the reasonableness of the $125,000 fee applied in the case. He said his firm had made an estimate to the exchange as to a reasonable fee for liquidating the brokerage house and that it was $20,000 to $25,000 for the receiver and $15,000 for the attorney.

Delger Trowbridge, an attorney in the Gold State Asparagus company case testified that he believed $7500 would have been a reasonable fee for the attorneys for one year. They received $15,000 for 18 months work.

BURGLAR CALLS AND LEAVES BIG BOUQUET

CHICAGO, May 18.—(UP)—A large bouquet of roses adorned the home of Mrs. Frederick M. Just today—the unwitting gift of a bandit who planned to use the flowers as a ruse.

The bandit posed as a messenger and delivered the roses to Mrs. Just's door. While she was examining the accompanying card, he produced a revolver and said "this is a stickup."

Mrs. Just screamed. The bandit commanded her to be quiet, but she screamed louder. Without waiting to recover the flowers, the gunman fled. Mrs. Just put the roses in a vase and placed them on a stand in her living room.

TWO PROJECTS APPROVED FOR RELIEF WORK

Approval of two new projects and increase of working days allowed on several others were reported this morning from the office of County Welfare Director B. V. Curry in charge of work relief under R. F. C. financing.

Word was received this morning that the rodent control projects of the cities of Santa Ana and Anaheim had been approved providing 1200 additional man days of work.

An additional 1000 man days were authorized for the Limestone Canyon Scout Camp project permitting an increased number of men on the job and allowing additional improvements to the camp aside from construction of a swimming pool. The previous allotment for this project was 600 man days.

Increase of the allotment of working days on the San Clemente State park to 5000 working days also was allowed.

Two projects are still in Sacramento awaiting approval. It was said this morning. These projects are construction of a beach park at Huntington Beach and demolition of earthquake damaged schools at Westminster and Tustin.

Last night marked the ending of the first week's payroll under the May allotment. This payroll totaled $38,000. According to statistics available at Curry's office the largest payroll is engaged in flood control work in the county.

There are 615 men working daily on flood control projects in San Diego creek, Santa Ana river, Brea creek and streams in the El Toro section.

H. S. STUDENT SPEAKER FOR SERVICE CLUBS

An instructive as well as entertaining program was presented today at the regular meeting of the Orange County Breakfast club at the Green Cat cafe by members of DE LOS, one of the four service clubs organized at the Santa Ana High school. John Rabe presided over the program.

An outstanding feature of the program presented by the students, which included musical selections and vocal numbers, was an address on school finance, entitled "Penny Wise and Pound Foolish," delivered by Harold Woodard, a senior of the high school. He gave the same address at the Kiwanis club meeting yesterday.

Asserting that public education is the bulwark of democracy, popular government and liberal institutions, the speaker voiced a warning against the present tendency "to sacrifice the cause of public education on the altar of economy."

"The governing bodies of education can make or break the schools by the wisdom they exercise in shaping laws affecting the support of education," Woodard declared, adding that while the schools should be made to bear their proportionate and just share of effecting economic readjustment, they should not be made to suffer as has been the case in many localities.

The service club idea in secondary educational institutions was explained by Bob Spurgeon, who

CONSIDER KNOX FOR SAN DIEGO MANAGER

Among applicants to be considered today by the San Diego city council for appointment as city manager of that city at a salary of $10,000 a year, is William G. Knox, former city manager of this city, it was learned today.

Prior to his appointment as city manager of Santa Ana, Knox was a member of the city council. He is an engineer by profession. Following his resignation as city manager here several years ago, Knox engaged in private practice for some time, and then joined the engineering staff of the Metropolitan Water District, by which body he is now employed. For the past six months he has been stationed at Banning, inquiries revealed.

Knox is one of 10 men being considered for the post.

18 Months Baby Severely Burned

NOTED ORATOR TO SPEAK AT H. S. TONIGHT

Joseph Scott, chairman of the Los Angeles Community Chest and one of Southern California's outstanding orators will speak here tonight at the high school auditorium on a program beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Scott will speak under auspices of the adult education department of the Santa Ana school system and the High School-Junior College Parent-Teacher association.

This will be the final lecture in a series arranged by the parent-teacher group and the adult education department of the city schools.

Talking on the subject "A Layman Looks at Education," Scott is expected to bring to the people of Santa Ana an interesting message concerning education and its relation to present day conditions.

He will point out that present day needs have created a need for educational systems different from the system of a few years ago, according to those in charge.

The meeting will be opened at 7:30 with a program of popular music played by the High School band under the direction of Prof. S. J. Mustel.

FARM WOMEN ADOPT PLAN TO FIGHT JOBLESS

Outlining a definite plan for an organization of the home department in the various farm centers occupied the members of the county home department at their meeting held Tuesday in the Court House annex. Following an outline presented by R. D.

Flaherty, secretary of the Farm Bureau, these center departments will be organized through the aid of the wives of the farm center officers and the leaders in girls' 4-H clubs.

Mrs. Dorothy Wilkinson, from the agricultural extension service at Berkeley, was present and outlined certain demonstrations which could be put on in Orange county the last week in May. These include the canning of fruits, vegetables and meats.

To aid the unemployed and the otherwise needy persons of the county in safe canning of surplus products will be one of the projects of the home department this year, and Mrs. W. C. Broadway of Garden Grove was appointed to get in touch with the Red Cross and welfare agencies to find where this help was needed, and how much will be needed.

Following the reading of a communication from Miss Kate Ren, chairman of the White House Conference on Child Welfare, it was decided that the home department take part in this work.

Chairman Mrs. L. A. Rortz appointed Mrs. A. L. Palmer, chairman; Mrs. A. L. Schroeder and Mrs. Nichols as a committee to contact the various districts in the selection of a committee to serve with other organizations on the White House Conference committee in Orange county.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland of the Orange county health department was present at the meeting and explained in detail the work of the White House Conference and the method of organization. Members of the home department adopted this work as a further project for the year.

SPANISH WAR VETS PLAN FOR STATE MEETING

At the meeting of Calumit Camp No. 26, United Spanish War Veterans and the Ladies Auxiliary, Tuesday night plans were completed for the department encampment and convention, to be held at Stockton, May 21 to 24 inclusive.

The auxiliary also received the official visit of their national president, Mrs. Ann Jasmire, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Jasmire addressed a joint meeting of the camp and auxiliary, following the adjournment of the camp's business session. She outlined the work accomplished by the national officers.

At the meeting of the camp, it was voted to authorize its delegates to the Santa Ana Allied Veterans Council, to participate in the formation of a County Council of all veteran organizations of the county, which move is progressing rapidly to accomplishment.

It was also voted to participate in the Flag Day celebration and picnic at Irvine park, June 11, being sponsored by the Santa Ana Allied Veterans Council, in which all veteran posts, their auxiliaries and families have been invited to participate.

Commander U. S. Glaze, regretfully accepted the resignation of Geo. E. Hubbard as adjutant of the camp, and expressed his appreciation of this officer's efficient conduct of his office. The commander appointed Chas. E. Chatlain, to fill out the unexpired term of Hubbard.

The delegates elected to represent Calumit Camp, are, in addition to the officers, Chas. E. Hyatt, John Markwalter, C. E. Hammond, Albert Deck, H. C. Moberly and W. C. REPORT HEAVY INCREASE IN GAS BUSINESS

Definite evidence of business improvement in Santa Ana and Orange county, with a very decided increase in the consumption of gasoline and oil since March 1, is reported by M. W. Thome, local manager for the Gilmore Oil company, and Leonard Freer, assistant division manager for this company for territory south of Los Angeles, who was a visitor in Santa Ana Wednesday.

"It may seem almost unbelievable," said Thome, "but in checking our figures for the month of May to date, we discovered a 50 per cent gain in the consumption of Gilmore gasoline in this territory, as compared with the corresponding period of last year. Because the use of gasoline may be considered a fairly good barometer to conditions in general, and because this is one of the heaviest gains registered anywhere in California, I would conclude that Santa Ana is staging a faster comeback than the majority of cities."

"Our Santa Ana headquarters, located on company owned and company leased property, at the intersection of Santa Ana boulevard and West Chapman avenue, was opened four years ago, and the progress made since that time by our company clearly indicates wisdom in the selection of this city for an important branch. From here we distribute products to almost the entire territory embraced in Orange county. We are gratified to report that today we have three times as many exclusive dealers in Gilmore products as we had nine months ago."

"Lest the gain reported for the first half of May be considered as only a temporary flurry, I may say that the gains have been consistent month by month, because our April business was almost twice as heavy as that of last July. Increasing prices of farm and orchard products, greater traffic on the highways and more industrial activity, is beginning to cause a pickup in all lines, and the Gilmore Oil company is happy to be among those sharing in the improvement."

ed favorable consideration from judges in the contest, and critical analysis of the plays have been sent each author. Encouraged by results of the one-act contest, there is a possibility of several amateur playwrights of this city, entering the national contest for full length plays to close in October.

PRIZE PLAY BY S. A. MAN TO BE GIVEN JUNE 17

Presentation date of Saturday night, June 17, has been selected for the winning plays in the National One-Act Playwriting contest held recently in Los Angeles, in which Valmer Clark, member of Santa Ana Community Players' association, took second place. Announcement of the date came to Clark yesterday together with the information that the Little Theater of the Verdugos would be the scene of the evening's entertainment.

Four plays will form the program, representing the winners in the nation-wide contest in the order of their placing. Agnes E. Peterson of Pasadena took first place with a one-act titled "Mocha Cake." Clark's "Ho Kritis" (The Critic) placed second; "Roll Jordan, Roll," by Mary Mitchell, of Hollywood, and "Peter's Patience" by Jean Cameron Agnew, of Lafayette, Alabama, were third and fourth respectively. Honorable mention was accorded Margo E. Ringwald, of Los Angeles, for "Spectable," and there is a possibility that this will be included in the program.

Selection of date and theater has been awaited with much interest by Santa Ana Community Players and their friends, and plans already are under way for the reservation of a block of seats on that night, according to Frank Lane-down.

Miss Lella Watson's play, "The Portrait," and Mitchell Hookins' entry, "Tents of Kedar," received

SPACE DONATED FOR C. E. BILLBOARD ADS

Correcting what is said to be an erroneous impression that the Orange County Christian Endeavor Union is spending funds for billboard advertising, Miss Carol Moore, Brea, county press superintendent for the organization, issued the following statement today:

"The 12 billboards in Orange county carrying promotional matter for the Christian Endeavor are donated by the billboard company. Poster and Kleiser, and are not paid for by the Endeavor."

"This announcement is made in correction of an impression that if the Christian Endeavor is using funds in this manner it has plenty of money to carry on its work. The company has donated the boards for several years."

Request Athletic Equipment for Use At Forestry Camp

An appeal for donation of used athletic equipment to be used for recreational purposes at the Roosevelt reforestation camp at March Field, Riverside, was received here today at the local chamber of commerce from Earl W. Porter, secretary of the Riverside chamber of commerce.

The communication pointed out that already there are 800 men at the camp, which number may reach as high as 1200, many of whom are from Orange county. While the Federal Government made provision for food, shelter and clothing, and other necessities, no allowance was made for recreational activities, it was added. To maintain the morale of the men, it is proposed to arrange for suitable athletic activities, hence the need of equipment.

Articles of equipment donated for this purpose should be left at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, from where they will be forwarded to the camp. Secretary George A. Raymer explained.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

CONTEST FILED AGAINST WILL LEAVING $7500

Three Oklahoma heirs of the late John A. L. Stockwell, who died March 17, at Huntington Beach, have been discovered and yesterday filed papers, through Attorney H. C. Cameron, contesting the purported deathbed will naming Mrs. Lillian May Hudson sole beneficiary.

Following filing of the official contest Attorney L. W. Blodgett, representing Public Administrator E. R. Abbey in a hearing on his petition for letters of administration and opposition to the petition of Mrs. Hudson, requested continuance of the hearing until June 15. Attorney Cameron joined in the request which was granted. Blodgett later filed a petition for special letters of administration on behalf of Abbey.

Opposing the petition of Mrs. Hudson for letters of administration and probate of the will Abbey alleged that undue influence had been used by Mrs. Hudson in obtaining signature of Stockwell to the purported deathbed will leaving her his entire estate consisting of insurance policies approximately $7500. Abbey alleged that Mrs. Hudson had established herself in Stockwell's home while he was ill and refused to permit his friends to visit him. He also charged that when the purported deathbed will was written by Mrs. Hudson and signed by Stockwell, three days before his death, he was not of a sound and disposing mind. Investigation revealed that Stockwell is survived by four heirs at law, Mrs. R. P. Monroe, Lufkin, Okla., Mrs. H. L. Barker, Oklahoma City, Okla., Mrs. B. E. Coleman, McAllister, Okla., and Mrs. Dolores Perkins of Dallas, Tex. The three Oklahoma heirs, through H. L. Aston, McAllister attorney, secured Cameron to represent them in the contest of the will. Mrs. Perkins is represented, thus far, by John G. Wilson, attorney of Dallas, Tex.

4-H BAND WILL TAKE PART IN WATER BILL AT RADIO PROGRAM COAST MEETING

By ERIC E. EASTMAN
Assistant Farm Advisor
The Orange County 4-H band, under the direction of Prof. F. L. Barrows, of La Habra, will appear on the program of the Western Farm and Home hour next Friday. This is a western hook-up including all the states on the Pacific coast and east to the Rocky mountains. Locally, the program can be heard over station KFI from 12:15 to 1 p. m.

Two selections are to be given by the band, "The Basketball Team March," by Ed Chenette, and "The Plowing Song," by Fannie R. Buchanan. Approximately 40 boys and girls from the 4-H clubs of Orange county are members of the band.

Another feature of local interest on this program will be a talk by Roy Luther of the Katella Farms 4-H club on the story of his project work, especially his citrus nursery. Roy is a senior club member in his seventh year of 4-H work and has represented his club at the annual state 4-H convention at the University farm near Davis.

In addition to the two features from Orange county, there will be a talk by a 4-H girl and a skit, "Sailing with the 4-H Fleet," from Los Angeles county. The Hawaiian string orchestra from Ventura county will also be heard on the program.

Friday's broadcast is the first Western Farm and Home program that has been broadcast from Los Angeles and will feature music and talks by members of the 4-H Clubs in Southern California. 4-H groups are planning to eat their lunches near a radio so that they can listen to the program.

Attractions Of Southwest To Be Shown at Lecture

Interesting pictures of scenic attractions in the southwest, including the Grand Canyon, famous Indian trails, the Carlsbad Caverns, as well as scenes from the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition, will be shown in connection with a travelogue lecture to be given at 7 o'clock tonight at the Frances Willard junior high school, North Ross street. It was announced today in connection with program arrangements for the adult education classes. The program which was arranged by Julia Hyde of the travel department of the Commercial National bank, will be presented by Henrietta M. Gloff, courier of the Santa Fe.

IRVINE DEFENDS TAKE PART IN WATER BILL AT RADIO PROGRAM COAST MEETING

Defending an attack by Dr. Hermann Hilmer, mayor of Newport Beach, against the Orange county water bill, and against his own interests, which were referred to as "X" by the beach resort executive, James Irvine told members of the Orange County Coast association meeting Tuesday night at the Woman's club, Costa Mesa, that the Irvine company did not sponsor the bill, that he and his company had no selfish motives in backing the measure and that "if it hurts the coast it hurts us."

Mayor Hilmer had declared that the bill permitted certain huge private interests to withdraw from the district with the consent of a majority of the bondholders, and that it would be easy and profitable for one large interest, to buy up a majority of the bonds. "I have been listening with a great deal of interest and amusement to what has been said here," Irvine stated, "and we have been referred to definitely and indefinitely. We have been given credit for a bill that we didn't have much to do with."

Water Wasted
"No one is much more familiar with the drilling of wells and of what's happening in the Santa Ana river basin than ourselves. We have our own figures and the figures given to us by the large water companies, and a comparison shows an astonishing waste of water in the upper part of the county. We hope to show them what can be done in the way of saving water. They waste more than the entire Irvine ranch uses, by the excessive use of water."

Irvine warned that individual users in the upper counties are building up prescriptive rights. Speaking of the charge of Dr. Hilmer that the new water district would be authorized to assume the cost of past litigation, Irvine said the only suit that the bill provided for, in the intention of its sponsors, was the one the Irvine company had instituted in the Federal court to prevent spreading in the upper basin and which those present had agreed was beneficial.

"It is not up to us to bear the entire load," Irvine declared. "We are on the edge of the basin and the area is not very large. We were in a position to bring a suit in the Federal courts which would permit it to be tried away from the local territory. But we do not think the spreading end of it is much of a suit after all. The people in the upper counties are willing to co-operate. The whole matter, so far as the spreading there is concerned, may be settled amicably. There is no suit within the county concerned."

Express Hope
"We know the physical facts and we believe that the whole matter will be worked out in a satisfactory manner because of the district. We have no selfish motives."

It was declared during the meeting that all of the Orange county coast communities except Laguna Beach were opposed to the bill and it was hinted that the fight will be carried further if the governor signs the bill. It was said that the bill disenfranchises a large number of citizens because of the provision that only property holders may vote.

Dr. Hilmer, who fought the bill in the assembly, asserted that the bill had passed the assembly after it had been attacked from the floor "as being one of the most vicious measures ever to come before that body," by only a bare majority because of "trading" among the assemblymen. He said other assemblymen did not want to interfere with internal affairs in the county.

The Newport Beach mayor continued: "The district really is organized as a stock corporation and the largest stockholder can make the most favorable bargains. Such a stockholder can assume control. In such a stock corporation it is easy to get four directors out of seven in favor of a proposition, even if the interest hasn't a majority of the stock."

Dr. Hilmer said the bill enables anyone with power to withdraw land and that "the passage of the bill shows the power of the individual."

"Such a law should never be passed in a democratic county," shouted the speaker. "It will cause further irritation in the county."

Defends Bill
C. Roy Browning, engineer of the Irvine company, defended the bill and declared Dr. Hilmer in error on several points in his argument. He called attention to conditions in the upper counties, declaring that unless someone enters suit many prescriptive rights will be secured by individuals that cannot be taken away. He declared that the spreading in the upper basin interferes with the summer stream flow in the lower basin. But, he said, since the starting of the Irvine suit there is evidence of a friendly feeling between the north and south regarding water interests, and that there is a spirit of unity except from a few opponents. He expressed the opinion that the major cities of Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, now out of the cause of a membership in the Metropolitan Water district, will eventually enter the district, and that they will get out of the Metropolitan organization because it is possible to bring water into Orange county for half the cost.

"Let there be one big flood and Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton will ask to get into the district," declared Browning. "I believe that we can get around a table with the interests in the upper basin and that all will see the light and that such a conference will lead to an agreement that will forever adjudicate the water rights in the Santa Ana river basin."

Hallam Cooley of Three Arch Bay deprecated the fact that the southern coast section had been left out of the district but said he hoped for the best, after a talk with Browning. President Murphree also spoke briefly.

"Our greatest trouble is our distrust of our fellow men," he declared.

Other Matters
Dr. C. G. Huston, chairman of the planning committee, announced a new movement for the beautification of the coast line through the cooperation of organizations interested in gardens and planting. He said there will be a meeting of his committee at his home, 117 East 18th street, Costa Mesa, Friday, May 26, at which plans for a coast-wide meeting of citizens interested in beautification will be held. He said the meeting may be held in Laguna Beach. It will start in the afternoon with a visit to gardens and that dinner will be held in the evening at which a speaker will outline ways and means of accomplishing the purpose.

The resignation of H. L. Sherman of Newport Beach as chairman of the water conservation committee, was referred to the executive committee.

Charles Furr of Huntington Beach, that a new series of golf matches will begin June 12 at the new Lakewood course on North Cherry avenue, near Long Beach, and that at the next meeting of the association to be held at Sunset Beach, five prizes will be awarded. His request that the association give a special prize for the next series was referred to the executive committee.

Satirical Opera To Be Presented At Occidental

Colorful, satirical, musical—is the opera "Orpheus in the Underworld," which will be presented in the Occidental College Hillside theater Friday, May 19.

This presentation of the opera by Jacques Offenbach, known to American audiences for his "Barcarolle" from "The Tales of Hoffman," is the first to be given on the Pacific coast. It is a clever satire on classic opera, affording opportunities for amusing action as well as unusual music ability.

The production will be under the direction of Prof. Walter Hartley, head of the Occidental music department and Prof. Kurt von Weisslingen, director of dramatics. Prof. von Weisslingen was connected with the Max Reinhardt production of "Orpheus in the Underworld" which was given in Europe two years ago where it met with great favor.

SAYS HUSBAND GOT CHARITY WHILE WORKING

Charges that her husband had applied for and received aid from the Unemployed Association of Newport Beach in spite of the fact that he was employed as a laborer on the state highway, were contained in a petition for divorce filed in superior court by Mrs. Myrtle E. Whittaker against Horace Whittaker.

Mrs. Whittaker charges that her husband represented to the Unemployed association that he was the father of three children and without work. The Whittakers have no children. When she remonstrated with him Mrs. Whittaker alleges that her husband told her to mind her own business.

She also charges that her husband refused to take her out or to even go walking with her and had accused her to third parties of being intimate with another man. Since their separation, she alleges he has charged her, to other people and in a letter written to her, with a serious offense.

The Whittakers were married in 1928, in Santa Ana, and separated February 8, last. In a decree, Mrs. Whittaker is asking for court costs, attorney's fees and a suitable amount for her support which she stated at $20 per month.

Unemployed Women Ask Consideration By Roosevelt

MOVE STARTED IN LETTER BY COUNTY GROUP

Women of the Unemployed Workers' Association of the Brea-Olinda High school district, keenly sensing the lack of provision made for their employment in the present economic situation, have addressed the following letter to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and are now circulating it for signatures before forwarding it to Washington:

"We are watching with keen appreciation the program for putting unemployed men to work and the speed with which you have accomplished things in the short time you have been in office.

"Now we are hoping you will take into consideration the vast army of unemployed women, many of them homeless, who also are in need of work.

"We are not speaking of wives who have husbands to support them. We mean women, like ourselves, widows with children and single women with dependents who have always been able to take care of themselves until this great economic disaster swept the world.

"There are hordes of them walking the highways, sleeping where they may, eating from the hand of charity, which is seldom considerate of the feelings of those it serves, committing suicide rather than live in the face of the insecurity they fear.

"These women are not the industrially inefficient who need charity even in ordinary times, but include teachers, clerks, bookkeepers, stenographers and workers from every trade and profession. Unemployment is much more horrible a word to them than it is to men and boys; it breaks down their self-respect and morale more surely and quickly than it does that of a man. No woman with runners in her stockings, shabby shoes and empty purse can long keep from deteriorating mentally and spiritually. Such deterioration is a national catastrophe.

Hope For Support
"We have infinite faith in our president. We believe he is equal to any emergency and that conscious of the tremendous need will move with characteristic speed to provide a remedy. We turn our eyes hopefully toward Washington and await the day of our redemption from economic catastrophe."
It is the hope of the unemployed women promoting the circulation of this letter that other women in the county will become interested, either from a personal standpoint or from the angle of service to needy women, and that the letter be copied and many signatures be secured before being turned back to the Brea office of the association or sent directly on to Washington.

Sponsors of the plan have expressed the hope that the appeal, in one form or another, will reach the president from many sources and that from this small effort the movement may spread and grow until it assumes the importance of public opinion.

MONEY— By Willis Thornton

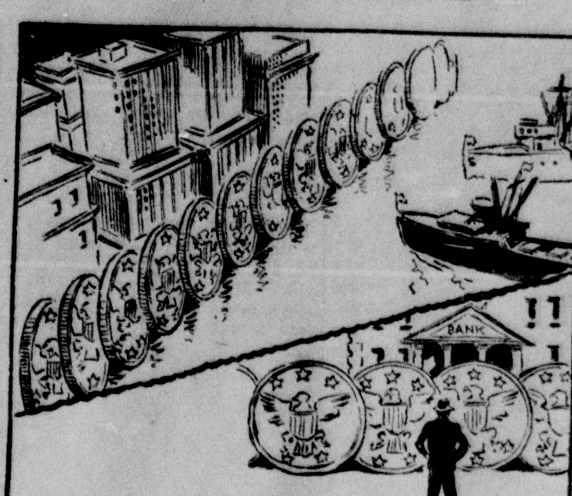

The collapse of Germany and Russia made it impossible for them to pay their share of the war costs, as the allied leaders had calculated. The allied countries began to see their currency depreciate, too, even the French, who had been cagey about keeping a large gold supply.

The nations tried to get back to gold. But the huge debts arising from the war were too much. Most of them owed more than they could ever hope to redeem in gold. France and Italy changed the value of the franc and lira from 19 cents in gold to 4 or 5 cents, virtually an 80 per cent repudiation, or confiscation to that extent of the property of all who held francs or lira.

CHAPTER 10—THE U. S. GOES OFF GOLD

Meanwhile the United States began to find itself handicapped in dealing with people in countries which used these depreciated currencies. It took a great deal of this money to buy dollars with which to purchase things in America. The long depression cut people's ability to buy even in America, while their debts in terms of gold dollars remained the same.

So the treasury forbade exports of gold, refused to pay off its money and bonds in gold, in the expectation that the dollar, when no longer convertible to gold coin, would become cheaper for both foreign and domestic buyers to use. This would tend to restore foreign trade, and increase the return from things sold, so people could pay their debts.

PROBLEMS OF GIRL RESERVES WORLD SUBJECT PREPARING FOR AT OPEN FORUM SUMMER CAMP

World problems as related to preservation of peace and economic recovery, will be discussed by Dr. Frederic Roman, well known Los Angeles college professor and economist, in an address to be delivered before the Santa Ana Forum next Tuesday evening at Room 11 of the Santa Ana junior college, it was announced today.

Following the lecture, there will be the usual open forum for discussion of issues touched upon by the speaker in his address.

Dr. Roman, who is leaving for Germany in the near future, and who has traveled extensively, will review current events of national and international importance, giving interpretation of these events. The forum is open to any one interested in its activities, the program announcement added.

Much enthusiasm is in evidence these days by both Junior and Senior High School Girl Reserves over the prospects of summer camping, according to Lucille Robinson, Girl Reserves secretary. Registrations are being taken now for two camps that are being sponsored by the Orange County Girl Reserves. The first camp will be held at Catalina Island in Fourth of July Cove from June 27 to July 3, inclusive, and the second camp will be high in the San Bernardino mountains at Camp Osceola, from July 25 to July 31, inclusive.

Fine leadership has been secured for the two camps and an interesting program is in the process of being worked out, Miss Robinson said. Included in the program will be opportunity for handicraft, campcraft, dramatics, music, swimming, horseback riding, hiking and games. Impressive worship services and evening campfires as planned by girls and leaders are among the activities of camp life.

Leaders from Santa Ana include Miss Clara Spelman who will be responsible for the music program, Miss Beatrice Rankin, nature study and campcraft; and Miss Robinson doing handicraft and music. Other leaders will come from Fullerton, Anaheim, and Orange.

Early registrations are urged since last year some girls were unable to go to camp because when they came to register the camp was full. All registrations should be in by June. For further information call the Y. W. C. A.

Foreign Wars Veterans Announce Gala Event

Plans made by Ernest Kellogg post and auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for a benefit dinner, dance and card party to be held tomorrow night in Pythian hall, indicated that a gala evening may be anticipated by the two orders and their friends.

The dinner, whose preparation is in the hands of the auxiliary, will be served at 6:30 o'clock, and presiding in the kitchen will be Mesdames Esther Hendrickson, William Kelsey, Effie Hawley, Neal Meister and Margaret Householder. Serving will be accomplished by a committee composed of Mesdames Charles E. Hyatt, Charles Camm, W. R. DuBois, William Ward, John State and Alma Dickinson.

The entertainment program of the evening will be introduced at 8 o'clock when an excellent orchestra will invite guests to dancing in the main assembly room of the hall while card tables in another room will offer tournament play. A nominal price is being asked for the festivity and all proceeds will be applied to the post's welfare work.

Kindergarten Children Observe Mother's Day

Little children of the Edison kindergarten had their own special celebration of Mother's Day, when they entertained their mothers Friday afternoon in the cheerful kindergarten room at the school.

In all there were some 80 mothers and children present to share the festivity, to which little Betty Claire Davis contributed a piano solo, and various groups added songs, rhythms and dramatizations under the direction of Miss Edna Hearn assisted by Miss Eva Marshall.

Each small hostess had fashioned a mother's gift for her mother, and these were presented at the refreshment hour, when four little girls, Dorothy May Whinfield, Shirley May Parker, Adela Patterson and Barbara Lee Price, assisted in serving.

Tenth Anniversary of Wedding is Happily Celebrated

It was especially appropriate that the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armin should be observed in the home of Mrs. Armin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns, 916 Spurgeon street, for it was there that Mrs. Armin, then Gladys Burns, was given in marriage May 18, 1923. It was also appropriate that the home be decorated with a profusion of gladioli, for they were the flowers used at the time of the wedding.

Guests spent the evening at bridge, for which Mrs. Norman Grimsditch and Dan Harris received high, and Mrs. Claude Irvine and Leonard Baker, low. Each was rewarded with a special prize. A delightful two course midnight supper was served, with favors of small bags of rice, to which were attached tin knives, forks, and spoons, signifying the tin wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Armin were then showered with numerous kitchen utensils in the designated manner, presented with lovely bouquets of flowers.

Especially interesting was the fact that both the bridesmaids and the matron of honor at the wedding were present Tuesday evening. These included Mrs. Alfred J. Ralph, matron of honor; Mrs. Norman Grimsditch (Roberta Daves), and Mrs. Chauncy Moore (Marjorie Warner), bridesmaids. Other guests included Messrs. Alfred J. Ralph, of Santa Ana; Norman Grimsditch, of Los Angeles; Lieutenant Chauncy Moore and Miss Gladys Smith, of Long Beach; Messrs. Leonard Baker and Perle Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McClintock, of Santa Ana; Messrs. and Mesdames Ted Higgins and Joe Rowley, Los Angeles; Mrs. Claudine Irvine, Garden Grove; the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armin, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns.

Emma Sansome Chapter Elects Officers

When Mrs. Lily Hamilton entertained Emma Sansome chapter, U. D. C. late last week in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Hinton, 816 North Ross street, she had as associate hostesses, Mesdames M. C. Head, E. E. Martin and T. L. Hill. Election of officers was of prime importance, and Mrs. Lillian Pritchett was returned to the presidency in recognition of her invaluable leadership during the year just coming to a close. Several other officers accepted a second year, and the list to be installed in June will include Mrs. E. A. Cox and Mrs. Jessie Luchner, vice presidents; Mrs. T. J. Haughton, secretary; Mrs. C. E. Price, treasurer; Miss Louise Montgomery, registrar; Miss Perle Head, recorder of crosses; Mrs. Alice Turner, chaplain; Mrs. Rebecca Pope, historian, and Mrs. Lavinia Mayfield, custodian of properties. Parliamentary and press reporter will be appointed by Mrs. Pritchett.

Application papers were accepted from Mrs. W. H. Bates and Mrs. Glenn Perkins of Yorba Linda, while Mrs. A. L. Staton was welcomed to membership.

Mrs. Ray Stedman had planned a program on old time albums and scrap books, with unusually interesting exhibits brought by different members. Miss Louise Montgomery established the old-time charm of the afternoon by her delightful solo with Mrs. Stedman at the piano. "When the Moonlight, When the Starlight," she explained had been a favorite song of her mother, Mrs. Victor Montgomery, as a girl in Dixie land. "The Last Rose of Summer" was a tribute to her great-grandmother's childhood in Alabama, when that tiny maid had danced around a beautiful "dah-lia rose" to the beautiful old melody. "Coming Through the Rye" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" were other numbers offered from time to time on the program.

Among quaint volumes shown was Mrs. Montgomery's childhood scrapbook from which Miss Gertrude Montgomery read the humorous proposal from "Major Jones's Courtship." Mrs. Martin showed a number of books, including one of Bible stories over a hundred years old, and a scrapbook which had belonged to her grandmother, Miss Ruth Griffith (sister of David Wark Griffith) showed a miniature of her grandfather set in a gold locket; Mrs. Lola Shropshire had a little arithmetic over 200 years old, and Mrs. Haughton brought articles of intimate attire carefully hand made by her mother as a girl. Reminiscent of "yesterday's yesterday" was the corsage of "mother's bride roses" brought by Mrs. Pope and Miss Sue Rankin from a bush grown from that which had furnished their mother's bridal bouquet.

Completing a pleasant afternoon was the social hour with its daintily served tea menu. The June meeting will be in Orange with Mrs. Rebecca Pope.

Birthday Honors Paid Calumpit Auxiliary Past President

Mrs. Adolph Erickson's birthday anniversary was appropriately honored Monday evening when members of the Past Presidents' club of Calumpit auxiliary met with Mrs. Hardin Reed, 519 East Fifth street. The honored guest was the recipient of many delightful gifts, before contract whist claimed the attention for the evening. A linen luncheon cloth rewarded Mrs. Charles Dixon for holding high score, while a potted lantana went to Mrs. Sherman Glaze of Garden Grove for second high.

For the refreshment course guests were grouped about the long dining table, where a sparkling white cellophane cover was laid over bands of orchid and yellow crepe paper. Adding to the pastel theme was the May basket of cherry blossoms centering the table, with miniature May poles surrounded by dancing figures at either end. The angel food birthday cake, iced in white and yellow, was cut by Mrs. Erickson, and served with ice cream, nuts and candies.

The hostess, Mrs. Reed, was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Harriet Johnson, while guests included Mesdames Sherman Glaze, Charles Dixon, William Hannah, Hanigan Moberly, Alfred Dresser, Elva Hunt, Emma King Wassum, Menry Helmer, the guest of honor, Mrs. Adolph Erickson, and a special guest, Mrs. Charles Ragan.

The next regular meeting of the group will be held June 19, with Mrs. Charles Dixon, 1138 South Ross street.

Unique Entertainment Provided Guests at Library Tea

Coincident with the announcement of Miss Ruth Bartlett's appointment as director of the National Lip Reading tournament at the World's Fair in Chicago, and her selection to appear on the National Education program, was news of a charming courtesy which Miss Bartlett extended members of the Orange County League in the Hard of Hearing on Tuesday afternoon in her home, 1862 North Main street.

Miss Bartlett, a Pomona college graduate who was forced to a re-education process after losing her hearing as the result of illness, is recognized as one of the outstanding lip-readers in the United States, and teaches that branch of knowledge under Santa Ana's department of education. In entertaining Tuesday at a library tea, she asked her guests to represent different books, and results were novel and original.

To Mrs. J. F. Lowell of Laguna Beach, whose costume suggested "Treasure Island," went the prize for cleverest costume. Mrs. Edna Jenifer of Santa Ana, took the prize for recognition of the greatest number of titles, and Mrs. A. H. Wilson of Balboa, won the book title guessing contest.

A delightful tea hour concluded the afternoon's pleasure, with tables set with quite charmingly embroidered covers, flowers, and favors in pink, yellow or pale green. Neapolitan ice cream, coffee and cakes were served, and merriment was increased by the distribution of balloons, all day suckers, animal crackers and similar gifts.

Guests included Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education in Santa Ana schools; Mesdames M. G. McCright, Florence Huffine, Charles Williams, Rose Huber, Sophie Parris, Edna Jenifer, Jessie Cole, Henry Clayton, H. L. ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast

2 stewed dried figs and 2 prunes, with

2 teaspoon juice

2 thin slices bran toast

1 teaspoon butter for toast

1 cup coffee with 1-4 cup hot skim milk. No sugar

Calory total, 385

At least once a week dried stewed fruit should appear on any but a drastic reducing menu. These are minimal elements in these fruits that we need for health, and they are packed with nature's cathartics. Soak them, together, all night, and cook slowly in the same water, without sugar. A little lemon juice may be added after cooking if the taste is too flat.

A Clever Salad Garnish

When the tiny new carrots come into the market, buy a quantity, scrape clean and cook with sprigs of mint and a little sugar. Drain and cool. Pack them into pint jars, end for end, fill the jars with a tangy French dressing and keep them in the refrigerator.

With shredded lettuce and sliced tomatoes, or green peas, they are perfection, and so colorful.

Do a couple of jars of green string beans the same way. Canned string beans, freshened in hot water, will do as well as fresh ones.

Devonshire Pie

2 cups pastry flour

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon baking powder

6 rounded tablespoons chilled lard or vegetable shortening

Ice water to mix

Custard filling, 2 cups

Strawberries

Sweetened whipped cream

Just another pie, m' dears, but what a pie!

Sift flour, salt and baking powder into a bowl and set in the refrigerator for an hour to chill. Cut shortening into flour in thin slivers. Mix to consistency of coarse meal with fingertips or pastry cutter. Add ice water, by spoonfuls, cutting it into the flour with a fork until the dough will hold together. Turn onto the board, divide into four parts. Roll out and cut to fit three layer cake tins. The fourth circle is rolled out and fitted to the pan. Then a big circle is cut out of the pastry, leaving a ring 11-12 inches wide. Bake in a quick oven.

For the custard sauce, heat 2 cups of milk in a double boiler. Whip 3 egg yolks, 3 tablespoons cornstarch and 1-2 cup sugar together (add milk to whip smoothly). Stir into hot milk and cook to a thick, smooth custard. A pinch of salt and a teaspoon of vanilla complete the sauce.

Put the three big pastry layers together with custard sauce and anchor the top circle with the sauce also. Hull the berries and dust with powdered sugar. Pile in the center and cover with whipped cream. Chill well. Cut into 10 portions and allow 380 energy calories for each portion.

Many face powders are made out of cosmetic which dries when the oil in the perspiration strikes them.

Perspiration comes out through the opening of pores and the oil in the perspiration strikes them. Every pore which is giving out oil is darkening the powder around the opening of the pores. Thus you have dark spots and the pores and white spots between them, making an ugly, dotty face of blotches, especially on the nose.

The new Mello-glo Face Powder contains none of these inferior cosmetics which are so easily detected by the oil in your perspiration. Prove it for yourself. Ask for Mello-glo Face Powder by name. Look for the name Mello-glo Face Powder on the gold box. Refuse the unfair offer of "somebody else's" good, let your mirror give you the answer.

We challenge the world to produce a finer and more luxurious face powder than the new Mello-glo. The new Mello-glo formula is the formula used by the most exclusive cosmetics in New York and Paris.

You don't buy face powder to make your face look dotty and blotchy. Therefore, do not waste your money on powders that you are not sure of. Ask for Mello-glo Face Powder by name. FARM LOAN PLAN EXPLAINED TO FOOTHILL CENTER MEMBERS; ROLPH ASKED TO SIGN BILL

OLIVE, May 18.—The Foothill farm center, comprising Villa Park, El Modena and Olive, held its meeting Wednesday evening in the social hall of St. Paul's Lutheran church. The principal speaker on the program was Arthur McFadden, of Santa Ana, one of the directors of the Regional Agricultural association.

McFadden spoke at length, explaining the working of the association. He said in part: "The loan committee meets twice a week and passes on requested loans. The Federal regional bank, which is a part of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, makes no loans on land, but only on orchard crops, annual crops, cattle and poultry. Loans are made for one year, but can be renewed for one or two years. The local committee is able to grant loans up to $15,000; up to $25,000 the loan must be approved by headquarters at Salt Lake City; loans over $25,000 must be approved by Washington.

"The committees are composed of men from the various branches of the farm industry. Last year loans were made on the basis of 40 cents per field box for navels and valencias, but falling prices made a reduction to 35 cents necessary. At present the basis has been set at 30 cents for lemons and 40 cents for grape fruit per field box. The rate of interest on these loans is 6 1/2 per cent. It requires from 10 to 14 days to make a loan."

Earl Campbell reported for the Orange County Farm Bureau announcing the farm bureau picnic at Irvine park for June 2. A. A. Brock, state director of agriculture, will be the guest of the picnic and other state officials have been invited to attend. He also stated that Orange county 4-H club, the only one west of Chicago, will be heard at the picnic. Speaking on the Orange County Water Bill, which was passed by both houses of the state legislature and is before the governor for signature, Campbell paid a tribute to Senator N. T. Edwards and Assemblymen James B. Utt, and Ted Craig on their work.

A motion to urge Governor Rolph to sign the water bill was adopted by unanimous vote. Other speakers were John Crill, state farm bureau director; Dion Gardner of the tax committee; Harold Brower of the citrus department; L. A. Bortz, member of the school tax committee.

One hundred and sixty people attended the meeting, which was preceded by a dinner. The dinner was served by the Get-Together club of St. Paul's church.

Mrs. L. A. Bortz had arranged the following entertainment: Guitars, composed of Miss Evangeline Mueller, Royal and Kenneth Mueller, children of Mr. and Mrs. Royal J. Mueller, of South Tustin avenue; Bobby Wischnack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wischnack; vocal selections; a reading and piano duet by Henry Harms and Walter Bochner; vocal solo, "The Old Road," by Winifred Harrison, accompanied by his sister at the piano; comic dialogue by Walter Meir and Elmer Heim. BUS FEE CASE TRIAL BEFORE JURY TODAY

A jury of six men and six women was still out at 2:45 this afternoon, deliberating evidence presented in the case of the city of Santa Ana versus C. H. Eckles, bus operator, who is charged with violation of a city ordinance in not paying license fees.

The trial was held in the Santa Ana police court before Judge J. G. Mitchell. The jury retired at 2 o'clock.

During the trial City Attorney Downing showed that Eckles and the city of Santa Ana had entered into a contract on October 14, 1929, for the operation of busses in Santa Ana, giving Eckles the permit and franchise with no charge.

At that time, Downing said, Eckles had agreed to pay the license fees fixed by city ordinance. He paid for two quarters, he said, and then paid no more.

Downing said there was no official record on the minutes of any council meeting since the time of the agreement which showed that the city council had agreed to allow Eckles to operate busses without paying license fees. If there were discussions, he said, they were informal and unofficial and would have no bearing on the matter.

On May 9, Downing said in his closing argument, Eckles was guilty of violating the city license ordinance because he was operating busses here without a license. Three or four days prior to the issuance of the complaint, it was shown at the trial, Eckles discussed the matter with Downing.

At that time Eckles is said to have threatened to bring a damage suit against the city of Santa Ana. During the trial today Downing told of how Eckles had discussed bringing suit against the city with a Los Angeles attorney.

Eckles, on the witness stand, denied having threatened the city but admitted discussing the matter with the Los Angeles attorney.

Charles Swanner, attorney for the defendant, told the jury in his closing argument that Eckles was willing to pay his license fees for this quarter but did not feel that he should pay them for three years past.

Several members of the city council at the time the contract was drawn between Eckles and the city testified during the trial this morning, stating that the council had felt that it was for the best to be lenient with Eckles, inasmuch as he was loving money on the bus lines here and was rendering a public service by operating the busses.

Eckles is said to owe the city $357 in back license fees, having paid no license since April 1, 1930. Attorney Swanner brought out at the trial that Eckles had tried to pay his license fee for this quarter but that the city clerk would not accept it.

The games Saturday will be played at the offices of the Auto Club of Southern California.

SALVAGE SHIP OFF ON QUEST OF GOLD

BREST, France, May 18.—The Italian salvage ship Artiglio sailed today for a final attempt to raise approximately $1,500,000 in gold still in the strongroom of the sunken P. and O. liner Egypt, lying 70 fathoms deep off Point De Raz.

In four previous summers of work, the Italian divers recovered $3,500,000 of the total cargo of $5,000,000 in gold and silver which the liner carried from London on her last voyage, May 19, 1932. The Egypt sank 20 minutes after being rammed in a fog by the French freighter Seine. Of the 14 passengers and 291 crew, 95 lives were lost.

VON ECKARTSBERG SEEKS NEW TRIAL

Attorney Harry Parker, representing Rolf von Eckartsberg, scion of a noble family of Germany, will appear tomorrow before Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel to argue on behalf of a motion for a new trial on the four damage actions recently concluded against his client.

Judgments totaling $9917.50 were recently awarded by a jury on behalf of the parents of three high school youths killed in an automobile wreck and a fourth student severely injured in the crash. The judgments were against von Eckartsberg, driver of one of the automobiles involved in the crash. Von Eckartsberg is serving 18 months in the county jail here as a part of the terms of probation extended him by the court following his conviction on a charge of manslaughter which arose out of the accident.

Parker in his argument for a new trial will charge irregularity in procedure, abuse of the court's discretion during the trial, accident and surprise which ordinary prudence could not guard against, new evidence and misconduct of the jury.

INSURGENT CHINESE MARCH ON TIENTSIN

TOKIO, May 18.—(UP)—An insurgent force of 20,000 Chinese is marching upon Tientsin to take over control of the city as a "China stabilization army," the Nippon Dempo news service reported today.

The "army" was said to have been recruited south of Tangshan, a rail town approximately 50 miles north of Peiping. Japanese Manchukuo troops today took possession of Tangshan.

The dispatch said a dozen prominent Tientsin citizens had met secretly in Peiping to raise 500,000 yuan for the new "army." Merchants, giving credence to rumors that a new government would be set up, are importing Japanese Manchukuo flags as fast as they can be shipped.

Beach Man Held For Illegal Entry

Charged with illegal entry into the United States, Steve Steinmetz, 42, Huntington Beach oil worker, was lodged in the county jail late yesterday by Immigration Inspector John Jiles, who works in Orange county.

Steinmetz has been out of jail for several months on probation following his having been sentenced to serve one year in the county jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A hearing on the illegal entry charge was scheduled to be held this afternoon in the federal building.

TRAPEZE VETERAN SAVES HIS CHILD

SAN MATEO, May 18.—(UP)—A trapeze instructor whose mind and muscles coordinated with split second precision was acclaimed today for saving the life of his daughter as she plunged 50 feet from a taut wire high under the big top of the Al G. Barbes circus.

William Matlock sprang forward as his aerialist daughter, Bertha, toppled backward in beginning her "death defying slide" down the wire. He caught the hurtling figure in his arms and was crushed under the impact, suffering bruises. His daughter received a fractured pelvis.

VINES AND ALLISON WIN FROM CANADA

MONTREAL, May 18.—(UP)—The United States took a commanding lead over Canada in the North American zone Davis Cup final today by winning the opening two singles matches in the best three-out-of-five match series.

Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Cal., American and Wimbledon champion, defeated young Gilbert Nunnis, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3, in the second match, after Wilmer Allison, the United States captain, turned back the Canadian veteran, Dr. Jack Wright, 6-2, 7-5, 6-2, in the opener.

JAYCEE STUDENTS HOLD BEACH PARTY

More than 80 members of the associated students of Santa Ana junior college joined in the beach party held yesterday afternoon and evening at Corona del Mar. A city school truck was obtained for transportation. This affair was held instead of the traditional college ditch day which was called off on account of the extra week of spring vacation.

Swimming, ball games and other beach sports were enjoyed until a peach picnic supper was served by Jerry Goodrich and Minor Whitford. Junior Lions made all arrangements for the party.

ALPHA BETA MARKET RE-OPENED TODAY

Completely remodeled and renovated, the East Fourth street store of the Alpha Beta Markets opened today after being closed more than a week. The store presents a most attractive appearance with its new fixtures and decorations.

Contract for the job was handled by Jess Williams, well known Santa Ana contractor, who also had charge of repairing the damage done to the building by the earthquake.

In addition to changes in the store, general offices of the organization have been moved into new quarters in the building at Spurgeon and East Fourth street, which also houses the East Fourth street store.

For Chesterfields to Satisfy

It takes barrels of money — put away for 30 months

THEY ARE MILD and yet they Satisfy

Four miles of warehouses are used to store our tobaccos. The crops now in storage are worth about $70,000,000 . . . most of it for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

The Domestic kinds are packed away in wooden hogheads that weigh 1,000 pounds and stand as high as a man's head.

Like fine wine, tobacco improves with age.

So after our buyers select, from the various markets, the right kind of tobacco for Chesterfield, we put it away for 30 months or more to become mellow and sweet.

This ageing process is expensive, but there is no short-cut to make tobaccos milder—to make them taste better. It just takes money and time to make Chesterfields.

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

Woe Duncy eyed the tent and said, "I wish 'twas time to go to bed. That place looks mighty comfy and I'll bet we'll sleep real sound."

"Right now, however, I could eat most anything. Perhaps a treat can be found on this island. Come on, lads, let's look around."

Then Dotty sighed and said, "Oh dear, what do you think can be found here? We haven't seen a single soul, nor house of any kind."

"Well, if you lads are going to try your luck at searching, so will I," said Duncy. "I'll stay and guard our camp, if you don't mind."

"Gee, we can't leave you all alone," said Duncy, in a real brave tone. "I'll also stay. And so the others shortly started out. They hiked for some time through the trees till Duncy cried:

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Life to the bride is often just a row.

"Hey, look at these!" He pointed to some berries. All the bunch began to shout.

"They were blackberries, very sweet," said Duncy. "Fill your caps up, lads. Then we'll go back to camp."

It wasn't very long until they all returned and had their fill. Then Dotty said, "Let's all rest in the tent. Outside it's damp."

"Now wait," yelled Duncy. "I've a plan to make things dandy. Then he ran into the tent, and soon came out. "All enter, now," he cried.

"Well, fan the smoke out," Duncy said. "What dumb plans pop into your head. It seems that everything you do is sure to start a row."

SAN CLEMENTE GUESTS
SAN CLEMENTE, May 18.—Mr. and Mrs. James Lackey were guests of Mrs. Harriet Gibson this week. Lackey, state engineer, superintended highway construction in this section two years ago, making his home in San Clemente during that period. Later he was transferred to Santa Monica, where he and Mrs. Lackey now reside. Having a great deal of practical experience with slides, he was especially interested in visiting the recently wrecked home of Mayor Thomas F. Murphy, studying the details of the slide, and noting the soil formation there and along the coast north to a point including the residence of Mrs. I. M. Bartow, near the municipal pier.

DR. MOORE BANS "BROWN PETITION"

Dr. E. C. Moore, provost of the University of California at Los Angeles, has stopped the circulation of a petition which has been or is circulating in six hundred colleges in the United States. The petition movement was started in Brown University by the Brown Daily Herald, and contains three columns wherein students may register their attitude regarding war. Those signing in one column pledged themselves not to support the nation in any war; those in another column pledged themselves not to participate in any war, except in case the mainland of the United States is invaded, and agree to work for the organization of the world on a peace basis. The signers of the third section agree not to participate in any war unless approved by the President and declared by Congress.

The petition is a modified form of the Brown Daily Herald petition, which was started in Brown University by Harold Siedman, managing editor of the Brown Daily Herald. It is generally believed that the Brown petition was an offshoot of the Oxford Union petition, but Mr. Siedman denies that is the case. He says that his sensibilities were aroused one night when he saw a news reel designed to arouse him to petition his Congressman to favor a larger expenditure for the navy. Through the Brown Daily Herald, he appealed to people to co-operate in the mobilization of a militant body opposed to war. The Brown petition pledges the signers not to bear arms for the United States government, except in case of armed invasion of the mainland. It will be noted at once that this pledge is in accord with President Roosevelt's recent appeal in harmony with the Kellogg-Briand pact, that the nations reserve themselves to defensive military strength. The petition originated, however, before President Roosevelt's address, which would undoubtedly have eliminated much of the original opposition to the petition. At Boston University, the Brown University petition was regarded as too radical, and it was modified to appear somewhat as the pledge petition at U. C. L. A.

Seven colleges of the San Francisco Bay region, meeting at Leland Stanford a short time ago, drew up a petition of their own which says: This group, believing it is unnecessary and absurd to settle political or economic disputes between nations by violence, will refuse to be conscripted into any war whatsoever.

At the present time the leaders of most of the nations of the world realize that a sentiment for peace is greatly needed in the world. Chancellor Mussolini, an outstanding sword-rattler, personally urged Chancellor Hitler to tone down his portentous militarist utterances in his address to the Reich. President Roosevelt more openly addressed himself to all the nations to avert the threatening war. When the leaders of the nations are talking in this vein, it should hardly be regarded as unpatriotic for students to express themselves similarly. On the contrary, it evidences a healthy accord, which in the future may save waste in human life.

Even students sympathetic with one or another of the pledges contained on the petition, have objected to signing, because in a changing society they did not want to be bound by an opinion expressed today which might not hold two years from now. In answer to this objection, Harold Siedman says:

We realize that no one can venture to predict his conduct in fifteen or twenty years.

The committee at Brown decided to use a pledge because we felt that this was the best and strongest method for solidifying public opinion. A student may mark his ballot carelessly but he will give the subject careful consideration before he affixes his signature to a pledge. Every undergraduate who has signed the pledge not to bear arms, except in case of invasion, has done so after preliminary and careful thought. This is one of the principal things that we wanted to accomplish.

Considering that last statement to be a fact, Dr. Moore's attitude will not be as much of a blow to the Brown University petitioners as it might at first seem, for if the reaction is normal, it will arouse the students to do considerable thinking on the subject than otherwise would be the case. If they are a flock of sheep, they will expunge all thought of the petition from their minds, but our guess is that some one who hadn't even heard of it before today will begin to think about it.

THE ACADEMIC AND THE PRACTICAL MIND

When Mr. Hoover was elected to the Presidency there was great hope that government controlled by an engineer, a man of practical ideas, would be a refreshing change from government led by second-rate lawyers or politicians. The result, as we know, was a great disillusionment. It is too early to say how much the practical mindedness of Mr. Hoover accounts for the failure of his administration. We were due for a slump, and it might have come whoever had been chosen to lead us between 1929-33.

Mr. Roosevelt has attacked his great task with an academic mind, assisted by a group of men, known as the professoriat, habituated and steeped in academic pursuits. It is too early to predict what the final verdict of history will be on the Roosevelt administration. That is still in the lap of the gods. But a good beginning has been made, and certainly all signs point to better things. The President knows that prosperity cannot be brought back by ballyhoo methods, and we are glad he has reached that conclusion. Too much has that method been relied upon during the past few trying years. But we have wondered if, after all, the academic mind, which has been trained to reason things out, it not a surer mind than one which depends too much upon the compass and the slide rule.

President Hyde, one time head of Bowdoin College in Maine, made a study some years ago of the comparative value of a liberal arts education and a technical education. It was a case of study of a group of men from each class. His conclusions reached after this study were that men educated in liberal arts colleges outran in leadership and final accomplishment the men who had been trained in technical schools. The reason for it is that a liberal arts education, dealing as it does with human studies, makes it possible for a man to understand human nature better. While the technically educated man, dealing as he does with material things, is apt to lose sight of the human factor which has always played such a great role in all progress.

As we mark the speed which is being made to readjust society under the new national leadership, we are inclined to see much value in the conclusions reached in his study by Professor Hyde. Should Mr. Roosevelt be finally successful, it will not be to register disapproval of Mr. Hoover so much, as to recognize the greater value to a leader of a broad liberal education, especially in the department of political and civil affairs.

EXCHANGING A COLLEGE FOR AN INSANE HOSPITAL

An interesting report comes from Ohio that the Director of Public Welfare of the State has ordered the closing of a State College that it may be used for a hospital for the insane. The people of the city of Kent, where the college is located, are out in opposition, and considerable publicity has been given to the proposed change in all parts of the country.

The claim of the Director of Public Welfare is that one of the Ohio colleges can be spared, and a hospital for the insane is absolutely needed to accommodate the growing number of those who have suffered mental collapse.

The question has arisen whether this increase of the insane is not a reflection upon the character of our modern education. It has been proven that insanity and the tendency to insanity is not congenital. In many cases it is the result of inability on the part of the individual to adjust himself to his environment or to meet the shocks of change. It is the duty of education, it is claimed, to so train men that adjustments to change and shock can be made without throwing the mind out of balance.

In crises such as many have been passing through the past four years, there is a great mental strain. In part, through charity or unemployment insurance, society can cushion the shock. But even that is not sufficient for sensitive and proud people who brood over their misfortunes. The same mental chaos in times like these which drive men to suicide, drives others to insanity.

There is needed in our education, some claim, something that will make the individual more flexible as he meets the changes of life. It may be that if the colleges and the educational institutions of Ohio had been on to their job more scientifically that the number of insane hospitals might have been reduced rather than increased. At any rate, the news of a college going out of business to make a new institution to care for the insane, prompts some serious questioning as to the function of education in adjusting sensitive minds to the catastrophic changes of our modern maladjusted, complex and competitive society.

Seeing America in Chicago

Chicago Daily News

One fact in the news that carries the name of Chicago up and down the length of the land stands out to provoke more than ordinary interest—an interest amounting to impelling curiosity. In the midst of perplexing problems and discouraging circumstances common to the nation and the world, Chicago has brought into being what promises to be a more amazing and intriguing display of the product of human genius than the world has ever seen—A Century of Progress exposition.

Persons in all sections of the country who do not know Chicago, except by the frequent misrepresentation of report, will want to see, not merely the spectacle of light and color and scientific wonder that is nearing completion, but the city capable of producing it at such a time. The Chicago of 1933 presents in its daily affairs and in its prophetic exposition the spirit of America struggling in the laboratory of democracy with the refractory materials of our era, and simultaneously creating for itself a vision of greater achievement and hope of every intensively portrays the experience and hope of every American community. It is little wonder then that impatient eagerness manifests itself in assurance that all avenues of access will soon be thronged with thousands traveling Chicagoward. Special rates and faster train schedules are announced. New fast trains are being put into service. Galveston, Texas, for example, has been brought within one business day of Chicago. The whole country draws nearer.

Among the inestimably valuable results, destined to abide after the immediate occasion is at an end, may be counted the improvement of communication, the better integration of a diffuse populace, the multiplying of understanding contacts, the removal of prejudices and the stimulation of interregional confidence and cooperation.

A Neglected War

San Francisco Chronicle

Formal declaration of war by Paraguay against Bolivia reminds the American public that, while attention has been focused upon events in other parts of the world, there has been an almost unnoticed sanguinary conflict raging in our own hemisphere for about a year.

Airplanes, machine guns and tanks have been operating on the frontier with deadly effect. Thousands have been killed. Yet a very small section of American public opinion that considers itself fairly well informed about the issues involved in conflict in Asia has even the remotest notion of the fine points in the boundary dispute that has been raging in its own geographical sphere.

Burnt Offering

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A SONG OF CHEER

I know I have squandered my savings,
For I never have had any gift
For tucking away
Any part of my pay—
A practice which people call thrift.
But now, with the wolf at my portal,
I am neither dejected nor sad;
I recall the old days
With their free easy ways,
And think what a good time I've had.

Supposing I'd saved a few thousand,
And a broker had told me, "Look here
I can sell you a block
Of a good paying stock
That will rise beyond par in a year."
Supposing I'd passed the cash over,
Today I'd look into the box
And be dreadfully pained
To observe it contained
A bunch of unsalable stocks.

And now I don't try to discover
If conditions are better or worse;
I think of the stuff
I was lucky enough
Not to buy when I had a fair purse.
If I'd tried to amass a small fortune
When that seemed so easily done,
I'd have still wound up broke,
As did many smart folk,
And I'd never have had any fun.

After supper pop started to smoke and think in his private chair with his feet up, and ma said, "A nice quiet evening at home, could anything be better?"

The answer is No, ask me something hard, pop said, and ma said, "I've got quite a lot of mending to do, and you can write your letters, and the minnies will fly like magic feet."

What letters? pop said. You know how much I like to write letters, I have no letters to write, he said, and ma said, "You certainly have, everybody owes a certain percentage of unanswered letters and you're no shining exception. I've made out a list for you, she said."

Send it to the Home for Abandoned Lists, nothing doing, yee gods, pop said, and ma said, "Now William I spent a good part of the afternoon making out this list, and I'm not going to take No for an answer. Nothing eases the conscience like writing overdue letters, she said."

My conscience never felt easier, thanks, in fact it's sleeping like an innocent child, pop said, and ma said, "I don't believe it, you're just saying that for protective coloration. Now first and foremost on the list is your cuzzin Emmy. She sent us a nicely worded telegram of congratulation on our anniversary and that was 6 weeks ago and you've never written to thank her and I'm not going to have her thinking it's my fault for not reminding you. Well, that's letter number one, ma said."

For Peet sake is this the start of a quiet evening at home? pop said, and ma said, "Well, of course if you'd rather go out and play bridge, the Hewsees would like us to drop over there tonite for a frendly rubber."

O, all right, anything's better than a lot of silly letter writing, pop said, Him not thinking much of bridge, and he started to get ready, saying, By golly this has all the earmarks of a plot, I'll bet you cooked the whole thing up with deep premeditation."

Hee hee don't be silly, ma said, and they went out, pop still looking suspicious.

With the completion of the Red Cross work, the Army was to be available for lease after June 1, and there was some indication that it would be taken over by the Home Guards.

Large crowds had been drawn to the Temple theater for the premier of Sennett's film comedy, "Yankee Doodle in Berlin," and the personal appearance of Mack Sennett's famous bathing beauties, in a specially staged and costumed act.

Paul Shoup, well known in Santa Ana, his former home, was named president of the Southern Pacific Railroad company at a meeting of the board of directors in San Francisco. The company was a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific company. Shoup also was among the vice presidents elected for the major organization.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

SHALL WE GO PRIMITIVE?

A great metropolitan paper of the middle west is trying to argue the army of unemployed in its city into leaving the city and retreating to the country on small plots from which a bare living can be wrested.

This paper seems to think that such a move will relieve the city of the staggering burden of caring for its unemployed and will shove the unemployed out into a healthier life.

At first glance, this would seem to be good for the city and good for the unemployed.

But, on second glance, a flaw in the argument stands out stubbornly.

Outside the city of Berlin there are thousands of shacks, made of lumber from packing boxes, tin from tin cans and stove pipes, tar paper and the like. In these there lives an army of men and women who, a while ago, were business and professional folk and skilled artisans in Berlin. They found it impossible to practice their professions or trades profitably enough to cover the living charges of life in the city. Out in these barracks of the buffeted and beaten they live a primitive life, digging sustenance from the soil, not in terms of modern agriculture, but as their primitive forebears did. But this is only one side of the picture. One may walk down street after street in Berlin and see uninterrupted store and shop fronts with For Rent signs in the windows. The slender life of the shack-inhabitants means a stunted life on the Berlin avenues. Here is a lesson we may well take to heart in the United States.

We may talk glibly, as the metropolitan paper of the middle west talks, of moving the unemployed of our cities out into the country where they can wrest subsistence at least from the soil, but in so doing we are striking a blow at our cities.

A clear choice is before us. Unless we want to dismantle the civilization of the machine age, we must find ways and means of putting these city millions of unemployed back to work in our cities.

If we deliberately shove them out into a life of subsistence farming in the country, we shall find that they have left behind them empty stores and shops and homes and that their leaving has permanently upset the balance of the city's economic order.

The machine economy stands ready to provide a rich life for all; let's not fall into the defeatist policy of condemning vast masses of our people to mere subsistence farming.

If we try to solve our present difficulty by such means, we may all have to go primitive. Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspr's Syn.

Young children, those in the lower elementary grades of school, usually have fine word memories. They can learn poetry and prose with ease. They can recite whole pages from their readers. They can remember word for word what the principal said in assembly. This is as it should be. The early years are the language years. Never again will it be so easy for them to learn and remember words.

This faculty sometimes leads people into crediting children with high intellectual ability when they have nothing of the sort. It is common for a mother to say, "When my child entered school he was the brightest child in the neighborhood. He could recite the verses from Mother Goose, the Bible, fairy tales, perfectly. We expected him to get along well in school but the teacher says he is very slow and she has a hard time teaching him to read and do his number work. I can't understand it because at home he is a brilliant child."

The implication is that the school and particularly the teacher has turned a perfectly wonderful child into a dullard. That might happen but the chances are all against it. Teachers are quick to discover brilliant children. They are the stars in their dark sky and they look for them and worship them when they appear. They are not searching for dull children and they lift their voices in lamentation when they recognize one in their classes.

The child who has a fine word memory may be brilliant and he may be dull. His verbal memory may be fine while some other memory may be dull. He may be strong in language while his reasoning powers are still slumbering, awaiting their time for growth. He may remember words and have no power to interpret them from print. That would allow him to memorize the page of reading perfectly but hinder him from reading a single word apart from that page.

When this happens parents think that the method of teaching reading is at fault. "Why doesn't she teach him the alphabet? This is no way. He can read a whole sentence like, 'I am going to play in the band,' but he doesn't know A from B, and he can't pick out a word correctly. He just memorizes the whole page and wastes his time." Learning the alphabet first would not help. It is quite all right for him to read the whole sentence but then he should be able to pick out any word you call for by saying over the sentence and locating the word. After a few times he ought to be able to pick out the word without locating it. If he cannot it is time to suspect that there is something wrong with his visual power, either in the eye itself or behind it, somewhere along the visual tract, and that means the attention of the specialist.

Going over the reading lesson with a backward child is a good idea. There are children, who need a home practice period. But, if this practice period ends in tears, with no progress from time to time, stop the drilling and see the specialist. A fine word memory is one thing and a sound vision is another. It takes both to make a good reader. (Copyright, 1933, The Bell Syn., Inc.)
